The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, "can potentially" (lines 18 and 24) and "cannot potentially" (line 21) are redundant.

In claim 3 "still unprocessed" (line 4) is unclear as which triangle(s) it indicates.

In claim 4, line 5, "can potentially" is redundant.

In claim 8, "such as" (lines 3 and 5) is indefinite.

In claim 12, line 6, "the strip" is unclear as to its proper antecedent basis as which strip it indicates.

In claim 16, "created" (line 4) has no antecedent basis since the claim has not defined any means of a created triangle; "preferably" (line 4) is indefinite; and "corresponds" (4) is unclear as to what if the orders of storing and creating the triangle strips are different.

In claim 22, "the planes" (line 11) has no antecedent basis since Applicant has not defined any meaning of "planes of symmetry;" "planes of symmetry" (line 13) is unclear as to its proper antecedent basis as whether it indicates "planes of symmetry" in line 11; "the object file" (line 13) is unclear as to its proper antecedent basis as whether it indicates "a first device object files" (lines 1-2).

In the claim 26, "planes of symmetry data" (line 4) has no antecedent basis since applicant has not defined any means of symmetry data.

The remaining of claims are rejected since they are dependent upon the rejected claims.

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-15, drawn to the sorting of the occluding objects, classified in class 345, subclass 421.
- II. Claims 16-21, drawn to the computer graphics display memory system, classified in class 345, subclass 531.
- III. Claims 22-25, drawn to reduction of data, classified in class 710, subclass 68.
- IV. Claim 26, drawn to processing data with the mirroring operation, classified in class 345, subclass 619.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I and II has separate utility such as sorting the displayed objects and display order according to order for storing into memory. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I and II has separate utility such as sorting the displayed objects and data reduction by culling one of the symmetry plane. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I and II has separate utility such as sorting the displayed objects and performing mirror operation. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.
